Glides Overview

Different types of flooring require different types of glides.

PE Glides (Standard)

PE (Polyethylene) and PE-LLD (Linear Low Density Polyethylene) are best suited for floors with a soft surface (like carpeting), where the hard glides ensure optimal gliding. They are not suitable for floors that are sensitive to scratches.

POM Glides

Polyoxymethylene is characterized by its high stiffness, low friction, and excellent dimensional stability. We are aiming to apply this as a standard instead of the PE glides.

Felt Glides (Add-On)

Suitable for wooden floors and other hard floors. Felt glides are usually a good choice for hard flooring as they will not scratch the floor and will cause less noise.
